YOUTH COUNCILS SET

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A federal youth counselor program will further stretch his already slim staff. Administrator Willard P. Dudley of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation says.

Dudley says he has no quarrel with jobs for youth and proper counselling. But he said he is protesting the setting up of centers in Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Akron, Youngstown, Canton, Dayton and Toledo, which his staff must direct. The job should be done within existing BUC facilities, Dudley contends.

Wheels of Justice Grind Faster In Allegheny County

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The wheels of justice grind faster in Allegheny County these days thanks to a computer and a man whose mind, associates say, works like one.

The system is the brainchild of Judge Henry Ellenbogen, Vienna-born president judge of the Allegheny County Common Pleas Court.

The court, with 19 judges and 204 fulltime employees, is the eighth largest metropolitan court in the United States.

Oppressed by the heavy backlog of civil cases such as plague courts across the country, Ellenbogen ordered a study of the problem soon after becoming president judge less than two years ago.

He said the need of a computer to speed administrative tasks became apparent almost immediately.

The computer operation began in October 1963 with an order from Judge Ellenbogen that thereafter all attorneys would have to fill out special cards for each case. Each attorney also was assigned a number.

Since then the case backlog has been reduced by one-third with the definite possibility it soon may be eliminated.

At the start of the program, there were 8,000 cases pending. There are now 5,539. The time lapse between when a case is filed and when it is finally settled has been reduced from 3 1/2 years to two.

Judge Ellenbogen said the computer enables the court to know in a matter of minutes the complete history of any case and in a matter of hours the complete breakdown on the number and types of cases pending or the number of cases a single lawyer or law firm is handling.

In the past, the judge said, such statistical information would have been impossible to obtain.

Charles Starrett Jr., administrative assistant to Judge Ellenbogen, said the Allegheny County system is unique in that it follows a case from start to finish. Computers are in use in other cities, he said, mainly to record phases of cases or isolated statistics such as fees.

Despite the computer, there has been little effect on employment, according to Starrett. Employees who used to have to dig through the files to compile these lists, now have been trained to run the computer.

Judge Ellenbogen graduated from Duquesne University Law School and went into private practice in Pittsburgh. He served three terms in Congress from 1932 until his election in 1938 to his first 10-year term on the Common Pleas bench.

Of the use of a computer in court work, the judge said: "I believe we are on the threshold of a great and basic reform in court administration."

Lisbon Patrol Post Lists July Activities

A monthly report issued today by Sgt. Ralph J. Rizzo, officer in-charge of the Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol, showed the post investigated 93 accidents in July, one of which was fatal with one person killed. Thirty one injury mishaps were investigated with 57 persons hurt.

The barracks arrested 375 persons and issued 399 written warnings. A total of 83 more persons was cited in July than in June, which reflects the state patrol headquarters' recent order to county posts to issue more citations and fewer warnings for moving traffic violations. Seventeen fewer warnings were given out in July than in June.

Part of the increase in citations is attributed to the increased number of patrolmen at the barracks, Sgt. Rizzo said.

The patrolmen also helped 39 motorists in such tough luck as flat tires, motor trouble etc.

At one time, Napoleon Bonaparte had 100,000 troops and 500 transports assembled at Boulogne.

Crisis Is Way of Life In Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crisis has become a way of life in the Pentagon.

The Red patrol boat attacks on American destroyers in international waters off the North Viet Nam coast is only the latest in a series of alarms that have been sounding with growing frequency in almost two decades of cold war tension.

With the exception of Korea, the incidents have been Communist testing of free world determination. In one, the Cuban missile showdown, nations hovered on the brink of atomic war.

Always there was the chance that an incident and its reactions could flare into major war. And this is true of the naval States naval vessels and the patrol boats of North Viet Nam. Red China, powerful ally of the Vietnamese Communists, is close — and watchful.

The Pentagon has files packed with plans for coping with contingencies. The plans have existed and been constantly revised for years. They cover a broad spectrum of probable, possible or remotely conceivable emergencies.

Thus, it may be said that when the Defense Department ordered the close-in patrol by surface ships in the Gulf of Tonkin off the Red Vietnamese coast, it considered and put into a contingency plan things that might evolve from the patrol.

The planners certainly were aware the destroyer patrols might draw Red reaction. They assessed the capabilities of the North Vietnamese to react, alone or in concert with their bi-neighbor to the north. When the destroyer patrols were started more than a year ago, a carrier was kept steaming near the mouth of the gulf, ready to send her planes to help the destroyers if they encountered shooting trouble.

When the Tonkin Gulf situation moved from a contingency situation into a sea battle, the plan went into operation. A quick radio message from the destroyer brought fighter plane

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara uses the communications network to make his own personal, surprise tests to see if everything is working.

The system also requires that the whereabouts of each military official in the upper and operating echelons be known constantly, including the President.

Enough Kindling to Do It

President Johnson ordered the U.S. Navy to shoot to kill if any more PT boats attacked units of the 7th fleet in Tonkin Gulf.

More attacks occurred. The Navy shot to kill. "The 'paper tiger' bared his teeth.

No one knows what will happen now. But enough kindling is piled up in Southeast Asia to ignite a full-scale war.

The Chinese People's Republic warned of retaliation if the United States "escalated" the war against North Viet Nam, repeating the policy of France from 1945 until 1954, when French military forces finally were overrun and crushed at Dienbienphu.

The United States reacted to Red China's threat of retaliation by sending more "advisers" to South Viet Nam. South Viet Nam military leadership has been embarrassing U.S. military leadership with blustering talk about carrying the war north into territory whose security has been guaranteed by Red China. Everybody is spoiling for a fight.

THROUGHOUT Asia, as the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur reminded his countrymen when he returned to the United States after the fiasco in Korea, the fires of nationalism are burning fiercely. The white man is on the defensive.

The United States and whatever Occidental allies it may win for a showdown in Southeast Asia cannot avoid being the symbol of white colonialism, hateful to colored hordes who know little and care even less about the ideological battle between capitalism and communism. North Viet Nam has been ringing all the changes on this theme.

This is Korea all over again, with a recent oppressor ousted and a new savior trying to keep communism from filling the power vacuum.

France had its chance to save Indo China and failed. When it pulled out, communism moved in, exactly the same way communism moved into Korea after the end of World War II.

The resulting Korean War lasted three years. Casualties exceeded 2,300,000 for both sides. The United States lost more than 24,000 lives and counted a total of more than 136,000 wounded.

WHEN AN ARMISTICE finally was arranged in 1953, the United States despaired of reaching more than a standoff in its long-distance battle against communism in Asia. It had learned that the Communist conspiracy there was making shrewd use of Asiatic nationalism to keep white men on the defensive — "to make Asia safe for Asiatics."

This is what the United States is up against in Viet Nam. This is what licked the French. This is what broke up the British empire.

There will be plenty of time and occasion for patriotic fervor if the Chinese Peoples Republic and its North Viet Nam stooge have decided to wage all-out war. The American flag will be defiled with vigor if it is going to be attacked.

While the evidence on that point is being awaited, it may help to remember the outcome of an all-out war in Korea. When it was all over a standoff had been achieved — no victory.

But no defeat, either. South Korea did not fall to the Reds.

Anniversary

Before World War I ended, 8,538,315 members of the mobilized forces had lost their lives. More than 65 million persons had been mobilized.

More than 21 million had been mutilated by wounds. Seven and three-quarters million had been listed as prisoners and missing. Total casualties for both sides in the senseless conflict were 37½ million.

Added to this were civilian casualties and the incalculable cost of the war. Europe never recovered. Yet, within a generation, its nations were at one another's throats again in an even ghastlier war. Why bring this up now?

Because 50 years ago on Aug. 4, 1914, the first shots of World War I were fired — the shots that marked the beginning of a senseless slaughter. No one won. Everybody lost. The war ended in peace without victory and without defeat.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

All right, smart guys. Did you ever see anything that looked more like a slice of cheese than the closeup pictures of the moon? And Swiss cheese at that—full of holes.

I had no idea what the Chad Mitchell trio was up to in the line of satire until hearing them work out on the University of Mississippi and the John Birch Society. This isn't singing. It's blood-letting.

Another football season is starting, but this is not the signal to take out screens and pu in storm windows. It just means it's time to think about the children's education again. For example, where are their galoshes?

It will bear noting in the 1964 presidential campaign that nothing in recent years—not since the country split over prohibition—has so divided the American people as the Republican party's swing to straight conservatism.

Don't be fooled into believing bit-city friction is between Negroes and white policemen. Charges of police brutality are directed at all policemen — black and white.

"Harlemites disrespect the police with vigor and hate them with a passion," declares Louis Loma, Negro newspaperman. "They disrespect the police because they know the police are in league with the vice and crime that flaw their community."

CBS is replacing Walter Cronkite with a two-man team for the Democratic convention, because NBC's two-man team drew him in listeners. Only trouble is, Cronkite outdrew ABC's two-man man, which suggests that Cronkite is being fed to the wolves of the rating game.

I was confronted in a restaurant with something called "collard greens," which I learned later is a kind of "kale." This it turns out, is like cabbage, which, as everybody knows, is a brassicaceous plant favored by Red Russians. I didn't touch the stuff.

The Rev. Martin Luther King says race conditions in the North are potentially more explosive than in the South. The only difference is that in the North it isn't good politics to stir up race hatred because Negroes and their friends answer back at the polls.

Funny thing, but the people who do important things never look like the movie actors who portray them in films. Not a scientist of the Ranger team looked like the cinematic version of a scientist. All looked like what they were—men who had worked their tails off and had stayed up too late.

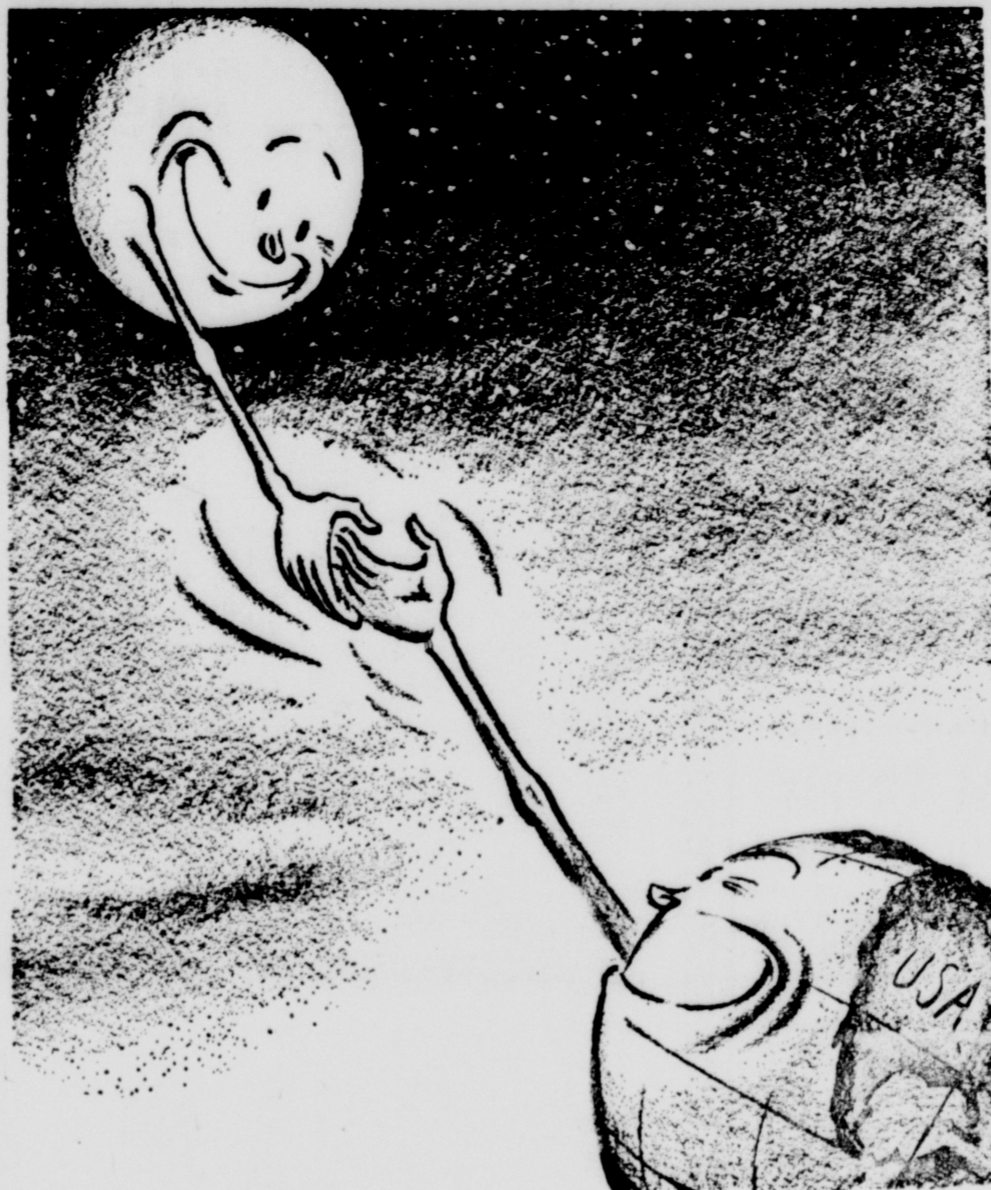

Russia should pay its United Nations assessments and be a good sport about bearing its share of U.N. costs. But the fact is Russia has the United States over a barrel, knowing it won't scuttle the U.N., which it originated and supports as part of U.S. foreign policy.

I would like a job telling some big shot what he shouldn't say and how he should phrase what he should say, because foot-in-the-mouth incidents could be averted if comments were screened by a careful listener.

"... Other unfamiliar words which might be heard during the heat of the campaign are: polecat, sidewinder..."

"Howdy!"

Malcom X Talks With Reds

By VICTOR RIESEL

CAIRO
Malcom X, whom the Chinese Communists call the "Chairman of the Afro-American Unity Organization," spent a considerable amount of time in the presence of international Communist propaganda here. He not only did he endorse the rioting back home but he publicly called for retaliation against the white community. He said the time had come to meet "violence with violence; an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth."

He prepared a series of inflammatory anti-U.S. documents here on the pretext of presenting them to the recent meeting of the Organization of African Unity, and it was reported across the world that he attended the conference. This is nonsense. He did not get near the parley. He was not accredited to it.

STREETS WERE roped off. Hotels which the heads of states and foreign ministers occupied were cleared of all but official guests. Only those with special blue cards and lapel badges, which were changed daily, were able to get anywhere near the conference area. All but the short formal opening session were executive meetings.

I was at that session. I talked later with several heads of state—many of them old friends whom I had helped in the U.S. when they were in exile. They are now among America's best friends in Africa.

Malcom X was not at any of the conference sessions. I was informed that it "is ridiculous" and "undignified" to think for a moment that anyone such as Malcom X would be heard by the African counterpart of the Organization of African States.

Malcom X's activity here was strictly a propaganda operation which he set up at the Hotel Semiramis, where some newsmen gathered. He made certain that his violent anti-U.S. diatribes were put in the hands of the Chinese Communist correspondents planted here by the New China News Agency.

WHEN MALCOLM X wanted to be with his pro-Communist friends he went over to the Hotel Omar Khayyam (on Zamalik, an island in the middle of Cairo), a former palace. I vouch for this personally. I was there when he met Mrs. Shirley Graham DuBois, widow of the late Dr. W. E. DuBois, in the lobby. When the aged Dr. DuBois died recently, he was a member of the Communist party, U.S.A., and had switched his citizenship to Ghana.

The Hotel Omar Khayyam was also the headquarters of the violently anti-U.S., pro-Communist Ghanaian delegation to the African States' conference. On Thursday, July 16, Malcom X and his frequent companion, Mrs. DuBois, met for hours in the garden restaurant of the hotel.

Mrs. DuBois and her late husband, one of the most active of Negro Communist leaders in the U.S., spent much time in Peking. They were frequent guests of Mao Tze-tung himself. Dr. DuBois delivered many anti-U.S. speeches which were broadcast across the world by the powerful Chinese mainland radio.

MRS. DuBOIS long has been active in world Communist circles. Her background is important here to show the strange inter-weaving of characters now attempting to infiltrate and agitate the Negro communities of the U.S.

Mrs. DuBois knew the Castro brothers, Fidel and Raoul, in Mexico as far back as the late '40s. She now is associated with the pro-Communist "Freedomways," a publication allegedly devoted to the Negroes.

In the last few years she has been a prolific writer in defense of the pro-Communist dictatorial state of Ghana.

She even praised the appointment of a convicted British spy as the head of the department of physics at the comparatively new University of Ghana. The spy, who served a long prison term in England, is Dr. Alan Nunn May, once a member of the most secret British atomic research agency.

INTELLIGENCE AGENTS of several countries now are eager to learn just how Black Nationalist leader Malcom X made contact with such Communist activists as Mrs. DuBois. Of considerable interest is the source of Malcom X's funds now that the Muslims under Elijah Muhammad have declared war on him.

Malcom X has been making expensive and extensive trips across Africa. I ran into his trail in several cities—especially in Ibadan, Nigeria, where he delivered speeches so anti-U.S., so incendiary, that they could be printed only on asbestos.

It's also being noticed that the Chinese Communist broadcasts have been featuring him and his splinter sect.

High Court Rides Again

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President — National Education Program

No one denies that the U. S. Supreme Court is rapidly finding its way into the social, political, and economic affairs of American citizens in a manner that has increasing impact.

This apparent intention to reach decisions in touchy, controversial areas in a "creative" manner rather than necessarily constitutionally should eventually bring limitations upon the Court in order to keep the Court itself from functioning in an unconstitutional way.

Unquestionably, this new era of bold initiative on the part of the Court has arrived partly because of failure by the states (and people and organizations within them) to accept responsibility.

At least, some feel that Supreme Court interest in civil rights problems came because the states and local communities had not made the progress that might have been expected. Likewise, in the legislative apportionment decision, this was an area in which the states were doing very little to correct abuses.

"ONE MAN, ONE VOTE" may sound like a good, basic principle of democratic government. Inequities in representation have needed correction, to be sure. But government by the people will not be achieved merely because everybody has equal representation.

A new absolutism could allow new power alignments to develop in the nation's urban centers to a degree that will make our states more subservient to the federal government than ever before. If this happens, the individual American will be worse off than he was.

The American system has somehow diffused its power in attaining protection for both majority and minority, and has provided for most of the necessary adjustments between the diverse elements and interests in the society.

But there may be dangers ahead. If we have at times had to fear the tyranny of the few, we should be aware that tyranny of the mass might be even worse. What new boss—systems in city-states, for example, have we in our future? Will we elect U. S. Senators by cities? Will urban power produce a heightened federal centralization?

GOVERNMENT PARTIALITY to labor organizations has already become characteristic of the new political alignments. Congress, federal boards, the president, and the federal courts have all become eager to err on the side of labor. If the Supreme Court continues to follow the present trend, decisions through the next few years may seem to strengthen the mass. But they will surely weaken the liberties and freedoms of individuals and institutions. This Fall the Court will hear a case in which a California company may be told whether or not it has freedom to manage its own affairs.

Up through National Labor Relations Board and U.S. Court of Appeals rulings favoring the United Steelworkers, the Fibreboard Corp. has been told that it cannot make decisions about its business that may result in loss of jobs. This is based on federal law that requires bargaining "with respect to wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment." In brief, the company had decided after studying maintenance costs that it would contract the work out to another firm at an annual saving of $225,000. The move cost 75 employees their jobs and the company a charge of unfair labor practices.

IF THE SUPREME COURT should find for the union, then a great many business decisions that companies make will have to be processed through bargaining with their unions.

In that case, the company points out, "the pace at which an employer goes to business, or goes out of business, will be

By DAVID LAWRENCE
From the waters of the far Pacific has come a piece of news that, oddly enough, clarifies a lot of the debate surrounding the Johnson-Goldwater political campaign.

A U.S. Navy destroyer was attacked by armed vessels of the North Vietnamese and fought back immediately. The enemy ships were repulsed and one was put out of action. There was no telephone call to Washington to ask the civilian commander-in-chief in the White House what to do. The naval commander "in the field" had to use his own discretion and he quickly ordered the firing of his ship's guns.

President Johnson not only confirmed at once the field commander's right to shoot back but has since supplemented instructions to the naval forces with orders to destroy any enemy ships that attack them in international waters. The order presumably applies to any Soviet ships as well.

This is analogous to what Sen. Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, has been saying about instructions that should be given to the commander of our forces in Europe. Yet he has been bitterly assailed by Secretary of Commerce Hodges and by Secretary of Agriculture Freeman as "trigger-happy," as "reckless," and as being ready to plunge America into a nuclear war.

All that the Arizona senator has said is that the supreme commander of NATO should have direct command over the tactical nuclear weapons which are a part of the battlefield arsenal of NATO forces in Europe.

THESE, OF COURSE, aren't the same thing as mammoth nuclear bombs but are essentially artillery pieces of one kind or another with nuclear warheads of generally low-yield power. They are designed not to wipe out vast areas but to be effective in deterring the advance of enemy armies. Frequently only the commander on the scene would know whether and when they should be used.

Sen. Goldwater on July 13 said: "I have suggested that we never remove this responsibility from the president, but that the commander of NATO have a little more leeway in the election of weapons and the timeliness of the weapons."

All that Sen. Goldwater has urged has now been confirmed limited to the pac set in bargaining by the union or unions with which he deals." The fact that this decision has to be made by the high court suggests a woeful misunderstanding of the American pattern of individual responsibility and freedom of decision.

IMPLICIT IN MANY of the Court's recent majority decisions is the view that the nation is not moving fast enough in accepting and implementing changes. In this the Court becomes not only a harbinger of change, but arbiter and innovator as well.

Public dissatisfaction with the Court may one day reach the point of Constitutional change, to prevent decisions proscribing or replacing legislation.

When the Court becomes political (or devoted to special interests or ideologies), then the whole judiciary falls to a very low ebb.

We need strict observance of the Constitution, not mystical obeisance to the "change" mythology.

History Today

Today is Thursday, August 6, the 219th day of 1964. There are 147 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, a B29 over Hiroshima, Japan, dropped a parachute carrying a bomb. Seconds later a blinding explosion reduced half the city to dust and ashes, the first use of the atomic bomb.

On this date: In 1914, Austria-Hungary declared war on Russia.

In 1943, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the victory of American forces at Munda, New Georgia.

Ten years ago — President Otto Grotewohl of East Germany D. Eisenhower's offer to send food supplies to flood victims in Communist East Germany.

Check the Record

in principle by President Johnson in issuing a blanket instruction to the Navy "to attack any force which attacks them in international waters, and to attack with the objective not only of driving off the force but of destroying it."

It's puzzling why Sen. Goldwater should have been so vehemently criticized for recommending the same kind of discretion for the commander in the field as Mr. Johnson has authorized. The only explanation is that the criticism serves as a political gimmick to try to scare people and make them believe that the Arizona senator would, if elected president, plunge the country into a nuclear war.

SEN. HUMPHREY of Minnesota, who is being mentioned for the vice-presidential nomination of the Democratic ticket, said only last Sunday on the CBS Face the Nation broadcast that the American people would rather not have a man as president "who is uncertain, has a nervous finger on the nuclear trigger, and may very well give an irrational response to an international crisis."

He said that to avoid this the people should vote for Mr. Johnson. The Minnesota senator's characterization of Sen. Goldwater was most unfortunate and it may be he had not read the correct version of what the Arizona senator really has said.

Last Sunday, Rep. William E. Miller, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, was talking about this very point on the ABC program Issues and Answers. He said:

Sen. Goldwater is not as misunderstood, in my judgment, as he is misreported. In other words, you can remember the statement he made in connection with defoliation of the (supply) lines. And he said there are five or six things you could do, and one of them might be the use of low-yield atom bombs in the defoliation of the cover in the interdiction of the supply lines in Cambodia, Laos, North Viet Nam, into South Viet Nam. He quickly said: 'We probably wouldn't do any of these things'—you remember that—but the headlines in the newspapers the next day were: 'Goldwater Would Use Atom Bombs.'

ACTUALLY, one of the wire services had erroneously reported Sen. Goldwater as having "proposed" the use of nuclear bombs to "defoliate" the enemy's protection cover.

Even after this was denied and the actual stenographic text of what Mr. Goldwater had said was published widely, two Cabinet officers repeated the charge just the same in subsequent speeches.

So when the reporting errors have been corrected, the press can hardly be blamed for distortions made by the politicians on the stump, who either haven't read or have chosen to disregard the factual statements published.

A Real Peach

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The room was full of lovely maidens so charming that butter wouldn't melt in their mouths.

As a matter of fact, they were all so figure-conscious that most of them left the butter untouched on their plates.

The occasion was a luncheon for a group billed as "20 of the world's most beautiful girls" en route to a pageant at Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 14 where one will be named "Miss International Beauty."

Meeting beauty contestants is pretty much like sight-judging rhubarb pies at a county fair. You don't know much about the filling—but the crusts all begin to look much alike.

I was sitting there glumly forking at some tired peas and feeling rather sorry for myself. Then I met the pretty lemon buyer.

She came over and sat down beside me and said that she was Erika Augustin, that she came from Vienna, and that she was "Miss Austria."

She had reddish-brown hair and eyes the color of a Mediterranean sky in spring.

Erika turned out to be friendly, affable and frank.

"I am no teen-ager," she admitted. She leaned across the table and confided, "I am 25."

Well, that made her different right away. A 25-year-old beauty contestant is about as rare as an octogenarian trying to climb Mt. Everest.

"I did this just for joking," she said. "It is the first contest I have entered."

"In Vienna I model sometimes. I had it in mind to be an actress. But I had to choose a serious work to earn money."

"I am secretary and buyer for a fruit firm. I travel to the South Tyrol and buy apples and pears, and I travel to Greece and buy oranges and lemons."

I dutifully asked the question you must ask all beauty contestants or they feel cheated.

"What are your...uh...uh...?"

I said, Miss Austria drew herself up proudly.

"I am high one meter, 65 centimeters," she said.

"My other measurements are 97-57-94."

"Inches?" I inquired, taking notes furiously.

"No—centimeters," she replied. "I don't know what my measurements are in inches. All I know is that in Austria they are the best you can have. There are none better."

On this pleasant note we parted company. I left with the conviction that as a lemon buyer Erika was pretty peachy. The girl really knows her apple strudel.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: I have a suggestion to offer for cleaning the walls and ceilings of your home.

I use my pan and roller which ordinarily I use for painting, and instead of putting paint in the pan, I put my favorite cleaning solution I've made up for cleaning our walls and ceilings. Dip your roller in your solution and roll away....

The roller has to be rolled fairly dry before applying (to prevent dripping) and roll as if putting on paint!

Then with a wipe of a damp cloth or sponge your job is completed. You can cover so much more space in less time.

I found this to be especially good on rough walls that are hard to clean.

Even my husband enjoys washing the walls and ceiling this way.

A. E. C.

Can you imagine anyone being so smart as to even think of using a roller for this purpose?

It distributes the washing solution beautifully. Not too much in one place, and less in another....

Let's give this woman a gold crown! Wish I could. And look, how it saves your hands.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I found another fabulous way to use your precious nylon net.... One day, when I couldn't find my sieve, I used that grand old nylon net for straining the oil from a can of tuna fish.

HELEN HIZA.

FROM HELOISE'S BIFOCALS: Listen, ladies, for those of you who cannot see (even with your bifocals) when threading the sewing machine, I just learned to remove the needle from the sewing machine, hold it in your hand at a slant near your light, thread the needle then put it back in the shaft. (That's the gadget where you loosen a screw and the needle falls out!)

Gals, this saves the day! Tension, too (not the machine's, but yours).

And lots of words we would ordinarily not use in front of our neighbor.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I found that my dry mops for hardwood floors are difficult to wash and keep clean, and they take so long to dry.

I solved the problem by buying of a yard of dark cotton flannel and making a bag (with drawstrings) to put over my mop. It is easy to remove, easy to shake, and quick to wash. I made several at a time.

Sure keeps my mop clean.

ANN STIRLING.

War Marker Groups Seeks Men's Names

The name research committee of the Salem World War II and Korean War Memorial Committee was instructed to begin looking through newspaper files at the Salem Public Library, in an effort to obtain names of all Salem citizens who served during the two wars, at a recent meeting of the memorial committee at the American Legion Home.

The names of the veterans of the two wars will be buried in a capsule when the war memorial is erected on the Village Green and will also be presented to the library in suitable form.

Names of the war dead will also be buried in the capsule but will not be engraved on the monument.

Committee members expressed disappointment that only $1,700 of the goal of $6,000 has been raised so far. Donations may be sent to Morris Hollinger at the Farmers National Bank.

Winners In Women's Golf Are Listed

A low net tournament was featured by the Women's Association of the Salem Golf Club Tuesday at the club.

Winners at 18 hole play were: First division - Mrs. Vincent Horning and Mrs. Carl Morenz. Low putts - Mrs. Stanley Gurney, Mrs. Horning and Mrs. Joseph W. Greenwood, tied.

Norma Shade Is Bride Of Robert D. Canfield, Jr.

Fort Devan, Mass., is to be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Donald Canfield Jr., a bridal couple of Sunday afternoon at St. Jacob's United Church of Christ. The bride is the former Norma Jean Shade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee T. Shade of RD 1, Leetonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Canfield of Dayton, are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. William V. Ring officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony at an altar adorned with vases of white gladioli and carnations with a background of palms.

Mrs. Ed Mitchell, sister of the bride, was organist and Mrs. John Schnader of Lisbon, guest soloist.

While waiting at the back of the church with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," to her bridegroom waiting at the altar.

She wore a floor-length gown of silk linen styled with long sleeves and scooped neckline on the molded bodice and a Watteau lace train added fullness sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Lynn Ring served as flower girl.

All attendants were gowned in apricot sata peau floor-length dresses with back bow details on the full skirts, complemented with matching petal headpieces. They carried bouquets of springer centered with a single Orange Delight rose, and the flower girl a basket of petals which she sprinkled in front of the bride.

Michael Canfield served his brother as best man. Ed Mitchell and Ronald Wilhelm seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Shade selected a beige lace over taffeta lace and Mrs. Canfield chose a dress of blue print silk. Both had carnation corsages.

Reception in Church
Miss Linda Cook registered the 100 guests who attended the reception in the church fellowship hall.

The table of the bride, set before a backdrop of maps of the world represented the bride's service with the Peace Corps in Brazil, and the bridegroom's service in Okinawa with the army. The table was covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of orange snapdragons flanked with candles. The three-tier cake was topped with Orange Delight roses. Hostesses were Mrs. Duane Bricker, Mrs. Brent Thompson, Mrs. Carol Rinher, Mrs. Delbert Sittler, Mrs. Art Rudebach and Mrs. Kenneth Clapsadle.

The bride is a graduate of Leetonia High School, and Mr. Canfield is making the army his career.

For her honeymoon to the New York World's Fair and to Canada, the bride wore a two-piece dress of copper linen.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mitchell were hosts at the rehearsal party Saturday.

Stock Market Reacts, However

Business Leaders Viewing Viet Nam Situation Calmly

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Business executives are likely to take a calmer view of the Viet Nam military showdown than do traditionally more emotional stock traders.

The stock market's quick drop after the U.S.-North Viet Nam naval encounter was its normal reaction to uncertainty.

Business executives are more prone to keep an eye on the economy itself and find scant reason as yet for overhauling their plans.

Neither stock traders nor business management like uncertainty. And the possibilities they might read into the dramatic developments in Southeast Asia will give both pause.

But it's the volatile stock trader who will react first — either selling some stocks in a flight from uncertainty and to cash in on paper profits, or buying others on the chance of a pickup in orders from a shooting war.

The economy is too strong, however, for what is still a brush war — and could prove to be only a minor one — to upset it.

Much of the excitement in the stock market comes from the in-and-out traders. They look for the quick profit, move fast to cut a feared loss. When they don't know what might happen, as was the case Tuesday, their instinct is to get out of the market while they're still ahead.

And many of them have a good chance just now to take sizable profits. The market has been climbing most of the time since November. Many stocks bought last December or January have sizable paper profits the six months range for long-term capital gains accounting for tax purposes.

Business takes a longer view. A shooting war in Viet Nam, if it doesn't spread into a much wider conflict, won't upset the general prosperity. Nor will it enhance it.

A few companies may hope for more defense orders. Most U. S. corporations will expect orders and sales to stay on the present course—some companies helped by existing defense orders, many more prospering from high consumer demands.

The ups-and-downs of the stock market in the tense days just ahead could be far less significant for the economy in the long run than the headlines may make them seem. And most business decision-makers are well aware of this.

Quit Job As Music Teacher

Woman, 26, Stacks Up As Good Truck Driver

NEW YORK (AP) — The buxom blonde crossed her dangle-ree-clad legs, tilted the peaked cap to shadow her baby-blue eyes, and explained why she switched from teaching music to driving a truck: "I was getting stale."

She is Miss Jeanie Manning, 26, 5 feet 3 inches tall, 122 pounds, and 38-25-36. Wednesday views on the CBS and NBC networks, said Wednesday night the reconnaissance flights drew no anti-aircraft fire such as shot down two attacking UMS planes and damaged a third Wednesday.

The estimates indicated the air strikes wiped out two-thirds to three-fourths of North Viet Nam's operational patrol boat fleet, he added.

Red China, which has been supporting the guerrilla warfare in South Viet Nam by funneling supplies to North Viet Nam by land and via the Gulf of Tonkin, fired off threats and denunciations.

The first statement Wednesday broadcast by Peking's official New China news agency charged Johnson ordered the air attacks "to enhance his position" in the presidential election and "to spread the flames of war to the northern part of Viet Nam."

China, which recently warned foreign ships to steer clear of the Gulf of Tonkin, followed up its original statement with another describing the situation as "one of utmost gravity."

"The U.S. government must immediately stop its armed provocation," the statement said. "Otherwise the U.S. government must be held responsible for all the grave consequences arising therefrom."

The wording of the latest Red Chinese statement followed the pattern of numerous of their threats in the past but there was no reference to what sort of action Peking planned to take, if any.

In the United Nations, the Soviet Union denounced the U.S. action and urged that North Viet Nam, not a U.N. member, be allowed to take part in the emergency deliberations of the Security Council.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, who had asked for the urgent meeting to protest the PT boat attacks in international waters, said he had no objection to a North Viet Nam representative being invited "to answer their grave use of military force."

But, he said, South Viet Nam, another nonmember of the United Nations, should also be invited.

The council adjourned so that President Sivert Nielsen of Norway could consult with other members about issuing invitations.

The two Navy pilots listed as missing in the attacks on North Viet Nam's patrol boats and installations are Californians, both 26: Lt. (j.g.) Richard C. Sather of Pomona, a Navy flier for only 13 months, and Lt. (j.g.) Everett Alvarez Jr. of San Jose, a pilot since November 1961. Sather is single. Alvarez' bride of nine months collapsed when she received word he was missing.

The North Vietnamese claim they have captured one American flier. But a Pentagon spokesman said Wednesday night he didn't know which, if either, was in Red hands.

Youth Faces Charges In Lisbon Disturbance

LISBON — Larry Lutz, 18, of Lisbon, hospitalized early Wednesday after police quelled a disturbance at the Shell service station corner on W. Lincoln Way, faces a hearing Friday in the mayor's court on two charges — loitering and resisting arrest.

Charles Hutcheson, 19, cited on similar counts, is returning to army duty today, police say, and charges will be dropped.

Police Sgt. Kenneth McKenzie used his nightstick on the pair at 3 a.m. yesterday when they resisted arrest. Two other youths in the group ran away.

Chief of Police Leon T. Zahnd said officers are under orders to break up loitering around the square and around the Shell station which is open all night. The chief said McKenzie gave the youths 24-hour warning but they defied him.

nothing to back up" the rumor about Ho Chi Minh.

He said he had no information about MIGs.

The spokesman said a United States note protesting North Vietnamese torpedo boat attacks Sunday and Tuesday against U.S. 7th Fleet ships has not yet been delivered.

"We are in touch with several channels on this matter," he said.

The United States does not maintain diplomatic relations with North Viet Nam. One channel for delivery of the protest could be the three-nation International Control Commission overseeing the Geneva agreements that divided Viet Nam 10 years ago.

The spokesman said American and South Vietnamese military forces are prepared to meet any Red retaliation for the U.S. aerial counterattack Wednesday against North Viet Nam's torpedo boats and shore installations.

The United States is considering bringing in more air power if it is needed, he said, but there are no plans to increase the ground forces beyond the 5,000 recently announced. U.S. military personnel in South Viet Nam now number between 16,300 and 16,500.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor kept in close touch with developments throughout the country. A spokesman said Taylor had a slight cold and canceled a field trip scheduled for Friday.

Leader

friends even more than he does his anti-Communist enemies.

Though the name of Ho Chi Minh is famous throughout the world, it is not his real one. No one quite knows what this man of many aliases was called when he was born in Nghe An, in North Annam, in 1890.

Son of a Vietnamese nationalist, he left Viet Nam in 1911 as a cabin boy aboard a French merchant ship, is said to have spent some time in the United States, worked as an assistant to the great French cook Escoffier in London, and from Germany reached Paris, where he got a job retouching photographs.

But his tastes were predominantly for politics and reading. Soon he joined the "League for the Rights of Man," the French Socialist party, and met such French socialist leaders as Leon Blum and Marcel Cachin.

Known as Nguyen Ai Quoc, he spent much time in European jails for his Socialist views. In 1919, with Cachin and others, he became a founding member of the French Communist party and wrote a book that soon became famous, "French Colonization on Trial." Smuggled into Indochina, it inflamed the passions of young patriots and made Nguyen Ai Quoc a household name there.

During World War II, the Allies in Chungking used the revolutionary movements in Indochina to gather intelligence and carry out sabotage against the Japanese. Nguyen Ai Quoc, known as a Communist, landed in jail in South China but he soon persuaded his captor, Gov. Chang Fa-kwei, that his group could do a better job than the Nationalists. To get him out jail and supplied with the funds he needed from Chungking, Nguyen did a simple and easy thing: He changed his name to Ho Chi Minh, "The Enlightener."

Thus, when World War II ended, Ho had an underground army supplied, equipped and encouraged by the United States and its Allies. He was able to enter Hanoi—no longer, on the face of it, a Communist, since he had with shrewd forethought abolished the party some months earlier. Ho knew that in the struggle which would follow, he could lead Viet Nam not as a Communist but as a Nationalist. He kept up the fiction until 1951 when he formed the Lien Viet which the Lao Dong (Communist) Workers' party was to the leading element.

During the long years of war against the French, Ho was cold-blooded in liquidating those who threatened his power or that of the Communists. At the time of victory in 1954 he was in absolute control.

Then came the division of the country.

Today, 10 years later, the north is reported caught in the grip of economic hard times, with black marketing, corruption, food shortages, unemployment and low wages.

There seems to be no accurate information available on the size of the North Vietnamese military establishment, but the general view is that it has grown considerably since the victory of 1954. American intelligence sources say the army numbers 250,000 men, the navy 1,000 and the air force 300.

South Vietnamese sources say there may be as many as 500,000 in the army. Nationalist Chinese officials put the figure at closer to 300,000 or 350,000.

In North Viet Nam today there is an uneasy balance between the pro-Chinese faction and the pro-Soviet headed by Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the victor of Dien Bien Phu who is minister of defense. Le Duan, party secretary-general, is a close friend and protege of Ho's and thus keeps the old man's influence alive and constantly felt. He and Premier Pham Van Dong are regarded by most observers as more favorable to the Soviets than to the Chinese.

Ho has maintained this precarious balancing act not only domestically but in the world Communist movement as well.

There are signs, however, that the pressures from Peking are increasing and that even the pro-Soviets are beginning to bend toward their next door neighbor and its hard line. But Ho refuses to come down in either side in the Chinese-Soviet quarrel.

Dr. Paul Beaver, a member of the board of education, represented the board at the meeting concerning the possible annexation of the 40 acres of Orchard Hill School grounds. According to Dr. Beaver, the annexation would benefit the school by lowering the rates for electricity and police protection.

Solicitor Edward Greenmeyer explained that the school board itself could not sign or circulate a petition, but would have to have an interested resident initiate the petition and, after gaining the required number of signatures, place it before council for approval.

Clerk Dan Butch read a letter of reply to the solicitor from the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio in regard to the installation of blinker lights at the railroad crossing on Washington and Wilson Sts. and sidewalk gates at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing on Chestnut St.

The PUCC stated that council would have 15 days in which to file data concerning the necessity of the lights and gates. After doing this, all parties concerned would be notified of a formal hearing to be held at a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mancuso of Oak St. were present in regard to removal of several parking meters on Front St. The Mancuso's are planning to open an auto washette at the corner of Walnut and Front Sts.

Council agreed to have the meters removed but said the Mancuso's would be responsible for the curbing and water installation costs.

County Home Inmate

Spends Night In Woods

LISBON — Search for a Columbiana County Home resident ended this morning when he was found standing on Route 30 a short distance west of the home.

Supt. Russell Phillis said David McFall, 59, former East Liverpool resident, said he spent the night in the woods. His clothing was wet from dew.

Phillis notified the sheriff's office at 9 p.m. Wednesday when McFall could not be found. The resident has but one leg and uses crutches.

Deputies and volunteer firemen from Lisbon and Guilford Lake departments searched last night and again this morning.

Sharon Steel Uses Bliss-Built Mill

A new 56" combination two-high, four-high temper mill, built by the E. W. Bliss Company's Rolling Mill Division in Salem, is now turning out tempered steel sheet gauges at the Sharon Steel Corporation in Sharon, Pa.

The new mill can be used for stainless and some carbon steels and in this capacity it is a 30" x 56" two-high skin pass mill. In the processing of low carbon steel the mill is converted to a 15 1/2" and 48" x 56" four-high temper mill.

When rolling low carbon steel, the mill runs at a speed of 2,000 feet per minute and when rolling stainless it can run up to 1250 feet per minute.

Hospital Employees Learn Fire-Fighting

The Fire Department conducted a fire-fighting and emergency evacuation program at Salem City Hospital on Wednesday. Approximately 125 employees of the hospital took part in the training exercise. The employees also practiced methods of moving patients in case of emergency. The hospital is working with the fire department.

Swine Day Draws Crowd

Upwards of 500 swine growers from Ohio and surrounding states converged on the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster Friday for the Ohio Swine Day program.

Several new research projects were unveiled for the first time at the Station for the benefit of the visitors. One of these studies involves limited feeding of pigs by mechanical handling of feed in paste form. Operation of the experimental device was demonstrated and explained for the large turnout.

Another experimental procedure which was demonstrated was the controlled introduction of antibiotic through cecal fistulas in several pigs. Many visitors also saw for the first time the sterile handling equipment used in rearing germ-free pigs.

Station scientists and Extension Service specialists discussed a wide range of topics during the day's program. These included the effect of high levels of copper in feed and water, treatment of boars with diethylstilbestrol, a report on a long-term study of the effects of vitamin B12 on sows, and copper as a feed additive on pasture with and without forages.

Educational exhibits presented information on the cost of producing feeder pigs, including a swine operation in the farm management program, livestock losses, and buildings and equipment. The Swine Day visitors also had a chance to see Building at the Robison Swine Research Center for the first time.

Station Director Dr. Roy M. Kottman spoke to the group.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 13-year-old daughter, Natalie, told us she was going to the library for the afternoon to see an art exhibit. Instead we learned that she and a girl friend went to see a foreign movie which was billed for adults only.

Natalie is tall for her age and could pass for several years older. From the description given by a friend who saw her in the movie house Natalie painted herself up like a trollop, wore my wig and high-heeled shoes and got by the cashier.

When I confronted Natalie with the report she did not try to lie out of it. She said she was curious about the picture and thought it would be fun to see if she could get in to see it.

My husband feels we should deprive the girl of her allowance for six weeks. What do you say?—COPING.

Dear Coping: I do not believe in depriving teenagers of their allowances as punishment. I assume that the allowance is earned by performing some services in the house and so long as the services are performed, the allowance should be paid. A more logical punishment would be no movies for six weeks.

Embarrassed Mother

Dear Ann: Our 23-year-old daughter, Annette, was always the shy type. We never knew what was in her mind most of the time because she was so quiet.

Around Christmas she told us she was expecting a baby. My husband and I couldn't believe it. The father was a boy named Harvey who is also shy and quiet. They had gone out together for three months, but had only five dates.

We gave them a hurried wedding—very small, and nobody suspected a thing. Harvey took a job 2,500 miles from here which was fine with us. The baby was born in May.

We didn't tell anyone about the baby, not even Harvey's folks. Annette wanted it that way. Last night Annette phoned to say she is sick of lying and wants to come home in a couple of weeks—with the baby. I dread facing my friends. When they see that the baby is several months older than she ought to be they will know everything. What is your advice?—ASHAMED.

Dear Ashamed: The baby is exactly as old as she ought to be, so drop that ridiculous notion.

Tell Annette to come home and don't feel that you must apologize or explain to friends. Anyone who would refer to the baby's "advanced age" is no friend.

Simple Solution

Dear Ann: Maybe I can help Hattie, who is dreading the arrival of 300 guests (she has a small home) to a party honoring her parents on their 50th wedding anniversary. Here is the solution, figured mathematically.

Invite 60 for 2 p.m., 60 for 3 p.m., 60 for 4 p.m., 60 for 7 p.m. and 60 for 8 p.m. Approximately 10 per cent of the invited guests will be unable to attend. At peak time, there will be no more than 75 people in the house. Between 6:30 and 7 p.m. the family can take off their shoes and catch their breath.

This plan calls for approximately 100 dishes, and cups and saucers, with continuous washing and drying. It's easier than she thinks.—M. B.

Dear M. B.: You make it sound so simple I think I'll try it myself. One of these days.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Here Is the Story, the why's and wherefors' of the BRIGHT RED STAR

In a furniture store, like at home, things accumulate. The only difference is the things which accumulate at home and are finally relegated to the attic or basement have outlived their usefulness. Whereas the things which accumulate in a furniture store are still useful, highly desirable items. True, some are discontinued numbers, odd pieces, one of a kind and floor samples... while others have simply "layed an egg." All of which takes nothing away from their value or usefulness to someone. Because furniture store space is valuable, these items which accumulate must be disposed of, regardless of cost or former selling price, to make room for new merchandise. The Bright Red Star on the Sale Price ticket identifies these items.

TWO CHALLENGERS — Britain's Harold Wilson and the GOP's Barry Goldwater have their own ideas about the NATO alliance.

The Global View:

Meanwhile, Back In England

By LEON DENNEN
NEW YORK — (NEA)—The specter of Barry Goldwater in the White House may haunt many of Europe's politicians and opinion makers, but they seem strangely unconcerned that Harold Wilson may be Britain's next prime minister.

Yet if Senator Goldwater is a "rightist," the leader of the British Labor party has long been a confirmed "leftist." His assumption of power as prime minister would surely cause greater disarray in NATO than the Arizona's election as president.

Goldwater's opinions on foreign policy are controversial and often confused. The Republican nominee no longer seems to believe that the United States should withdraw from the United Nations if it admits Red China as a member. But his remark that the military should decide when to employ nuclear weapons has caused legitimate fears among Europeans who live in Russia's shadow.

NEVERTHELESS, Goldwater's views on international affairs—for all their "extremism"—are essentially in the main stream of American and Western policy. This is hardly true of Harold Wilson's policies.

For instance, the Republican candidate for president sees NATO as a barrier to Red aggression. He wants, in fact, to strengthen NATO and reach an understanding with French President de Gaulle.

Harold Wilson favors "disengagement" in Europe. This is a policy also advocated by Russia and Poland. In plain language, disengagement simply means the eventual withdrawal of American, British and French troops from Berlin and the neutralization of all Germany.

THE BRITISH LABOR leader understands well that NATO could not survive without the Bonn Federal Republic. The neutralization of West Germany would thus doom the Atlantic alliance which is already in a precarious state.

According to West Germany's liberal newspaper Die Welt, "there is great anxiety in Bonn at the thought of Harold Wilson as Britain's future prime minister." A top official of the pro-American Christian Democratic party even charged that the Laborite leader "is making the West into an accomplice of Moscow in respect to maintaining the division of Germany."

The acceptance of Poland's plan for disengagement, as urged by Wilson, "will deprive Europe of the ability to defend itself," the West German official said.

Goldwater is, of course, strongly against seating Red China in the United Nations. Yet, this has been basic American policy of all administrations—Democratic and Republican.

But Harold Wilson has made it repeatedly clear that he strongly favors the immediate admission of Mao Tse-tung's representatives into the U.N.

OR TAKE THE PROBLEM the "multinational" nuclear fleet to be manned by crews of NATO's member nations. Here, again, Goldwater's views appear to be closer to those of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson than are the views of Harold Wilson.

President Kennedy first proposed the creation of a multinational fleet with limited NATO control over nuclear weapons as a force for world peace. Moscow has insistently demanded at the Geneva disarmament talks that NATO abandon the project as a price for progress in arms limitation.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON is not likely to pay the price—especially as long as the multinational fleet is backed by other NATO nations. But even the influential New York Times—which appears to fear Harold Wilson much less than it fears Senator Goldwater—conceded that the "British Labor party, if it comes to power, may reject the whole concept" of a NATO-manned nuclear fleet.

Why, then, are European and American "realistic" observers so disturbed by Senator Goldwater's right-wing "extremism" and so complacent about Harold Wilson's "extremism" on the left?

Charlie's Boats Eliminates Gold Bar From Tourney

Harry's Whips Moose 13-2

3 Games On Tap At Kelley Tonight

Charlie's Boats pulled off the biggest upset thus far in the county softball tournament as it knocked off top-seeded Gold Bar 6-5 at Kelley Field last night.

In another clash, Harry's Tavern eliminated Moose 13-2.

Tonight's card finds Charlie's in a skirmish against Harry's Tavern at 6:30 p.m.; the Merchants go against Minerva Gottschall Hutchison at 7:45 p.m.; and the winner of the 6:30 tilt battles the losers of the 7:45 clash at 9 p.m.

DAVE FRESHLEY, a member of the Merchants team in city loop competition, got his first extra base hits of the season for Charlie's last night.

His home run in the bottom of the sixth was the deciding margin in the contest. He also doubled in the fourth and scored on a single by winning pitcher Bill Herman.

The winners picked up three runs in the initial inning on two errors, singles by Don Kendrick and Vince Weyant, and a triple by George Begalla.

Weyant socked a home run in the third with two men away.

GOLD BAR, second in the city league standings, got all its runs in the fifth. A walk, fielder's choice, singles by Larry Moulins and Dave Williams, and a home run by Ed Miller produced five markers.

Kendrick, Weyant and Freshley paced the winners with two hits apiece.

Don Poole was the hitting and pitching star in Harry's easy decision over the Moose.

Poole limited Moose to three hits, while he himself out-hit them with five straight, including four for extra bases.

He drove in two runs in the first with a triple, singled in a run in the second and blasted a three-run home run in the third. He also belted triples in the fourth and fifth frames.

Tom Schaffer connected for a double and two singles for the winners.

Mike Paster, Jim Hughes and Buddie Rottenborn were the only batters for the Moose to get hits.

CLASS F CHAMPION — Sekely finished his season by knocking off Shaffer Ford 19-0 for the Class F title. The squad compiled a 11-3 record during the campaign. Bentley Hurles 1-Hitter as Sekely Garners Class F Baseball Title

Bob Bentley got the job done when it counted. He pitched a nifty one-hitter to give Sekely's junior baseball Class F championship at Memorial Park Wednesday.

Sekely's gave the young hurler solid support as it blanked Shaffer Ford 19-0.

Knights of Columbus pulled a mild upset at it nipped Eagles 6-5 in an extra inning clash, and Petrucci's handed National Dry Cleaners a 13-7 loss in Class G competition.

The Jaycees came up with two runs in the bottom of the seventh to nip CIO 1538, 11-10 in Class H at Buckeye Field.

FISHER'S AND MULLINS, both have 10-4 records and will play for the runnerup spot in the Class F division at Memorial Park today at 6 p.m.

BUT BENTLEY had it Wednesday. He struck out at least two batters in every inning but the second, and finished with a total of 14.

Don McKinney made an unassisted double play for Sekely in the second inning with the bases loaded.

No. 1 Draft Choice To Open For Stars

Browns To Watch Warfield Friday

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns get a chance to see their top draft choice in action on television—and some familiar faces along the sidelines — when the College All Stars meet the Chicago Bears Friday night at Soldier Field in Chicago.

Paul Warfield of Ohio State was the Browns' pick this season and his coaches are former Browns' stars — Otto Graham, Dante Lavelli and Ray Renfro. Other Cleveland alumni coaches in the All Stars are Mike (Moe) Scarry and Mike McCormack.

Graham said Warfield is ready to step into a regular spot as a professional pass receiver. "He has fine speed and all the moves," Graham said in an interview Wednesday in Chicago.

"His hands are good, not great, but good," Graham added that the former Buckeye halfback "is very anxious to learn. I wish everyone on the squad was like him."

Warfield will start as a flank-

Browns' draft choice, will do the place kicking for the stars.

Ailing Mays Clouts 2 Homers In Giants' 4-1 Win Over Mets

By HAL BOCK

"I shouldn't be playing," said Willie Mays. "I'm doing it only to help the manager."

It's a cinch Willie wasn't doing it for the New York Mets. The San Francisco Giants' star center fielder showed up at Shea Stadium Wednesday night nursing a heavy cold and when manager Alvin Dark made out his line-up, Mays wasn't in it.

But five minutes before game time Willie decided to play. The Say-Hey Kid then clouted two home runs — his 30th and 31st of the season — and the Giants coasted to a 4-1 victory over the Mets.

"These guys are trying to get Dark fired," Mays said. "I've got to help the man." Mays came to his manager's defense the best way he knew how — with his bat.

Dark's position as manager was reportedly shaky following racial remarks attributed to him which appeared in Long Island newspaper. Dark denied the quotes to reporters Tuesday and then held a club meeting to explain his position to the players Wednesday.

The power show whipped the Mets but didn't help the Giants in the National League pennant race. Despite winning, San Francisco fell two games back of the Philadelphia Phillies, who swept a two-night doubleheader from Houston 4-1 and 2-1. St. Louis topped Chicago 4-2, Milwaukee downed Cincinnati 6-3 and Pittsburgh edged Los Angeles 4-3 in other NL games.

The three homers were the first hit by the Giants in Shea Stadium this year.

Ron Herbel went the distance for San Francisco, scattering six hits to win his eighth game.

Richie Allen's leadoff homer in the ninth inning gave the Phillies the second game after sacrifice flies had produced three runs in the opener. Allen tagged reliever Hal Woodeshick's first pitch in the ninth for his 19th homer.

Frick Says He'll Retire Next Season

By MIKE RATHET
NEW YORK (AP) — Ford Frick, under whose guidance the major league baseball map underwent vast changes and expanded from coast to coast, has announced his retirement as baseball commissioner when his present term expires next year.
Frick's statement, although not unexpected, came without any advance notice Wednesday when the 69-year-old former newspaperman who rose to the No. 1 position in baseball told The Associated Press:
"It's just what I have said all along. Now I've just made it official."

Frick has been commissioner since Sept. 20, 1951 and has a contract through Sept. 21, 1965. He, however, said he was ready to step aside as soon as the club owners elect his successor and had so notified the 20 club owners by letter Tuesday night.

"I'll stay on as long as they want me to — that is, until the end of my term," he said. "If they want me to stay around and work with the new commissioner for awhile, I'll be happy to do that too."

Speculation as to his successor immediately centered around Joe Cronin, president of the American League; Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York, and Judge Robert Cannon of Milwaukee, who has been counselor to the Major League Player Association for the past five years.

Cronin, who rose from the ranks of player to manager to club official to league president, was elected president of the American League Jan. 31, 1959. The Hall of Famer is in the second half of a seven-year term.

In Washington, Sen. Keating said, "I have heard nothing about the baseball commissioner-ship from anyone except newspaper reporters." He declined further comment.

Judge Cannon was not immediately reached for comment.

At the time of his election as commissioner, Frick was president of the National League.

League presidents Cronin and Warren Giles of the National League said they would ask that an Executive Council meeting be called in Chicago on Monday, to present recommendations to a joint meeting of the majors league to consider procedure to be followed in selecting Frick's successor.

Bears, All-Stars Plan Passing Game

By JACK HAND
CHICAGO (AP) — If the Chicago Bears live up to the role of solid favorites over the College All-Stars in Friday night's game at Soldier Field they probably will do it in the air.

Although the Bears won the National Football League title last year by ball control football, Bill Wade will be tempted to lumber up his arm with a few bombs against the college boys.
Otto Graham, coach of the All-Stars, is well aware of the problems he faces in the rugged Bears' defense that yielded grudgingly last season to the toughest NFL attacks.

Graham was encouraged by watching George Mira of Miami throw a few passes after being forced to take it easy because of arm trouble.

"We finally got our passing game to jell for the first time," said Graham. "I feel much better after seeing Mira throw a few."

Pete Beathard of Southern California is the likely No. 1 quarterback for the collegians but Mira and Jack Concannon of Boston College are sure to see action.

The pass defenders of the All-Stars are primed for a busy evening. Three of the collegians probably are headed for starting jobs in an NFL defensive backfield after the game. They are George Rose of Auburn (Minnesota) Mel Renfro of Oregon (Dallas) and Jerry Richardson of West Texas State (Los Angeles).

AL Contenders Lose Again; Killebrew Belts 38th Homer

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Dean Chance, who shares his escapades with Bo Belinsky, now has hooked onto a guy to share his shutouts.

Chance usually works alone on the mound but needed a co-laborator Wednesday night and found rookie Bob Lee a willing accomplice as the two combined efforts in the Los Angeles' 1-0 shutout over the pennant-hopeful Baltimore Orioles.

It was the Angels second successive shutout against the Orioles, their ninth in the last month and their 18th of the season — tons in the American League. And Chance and Lee have had their hands in an even dozen.

Lee, who got to be a reliever with the Angels because he didn't want to be a reliever with Pittsburgh, now has shared six shutouts with his Angel teammates. He pitched scoreless ball for 23 1-3 innings over a 10-game stretch and lowered his earned run average to a brilliant 1.50.

A 26-year-old right-hander, Lee was in the Pirate farm system until he balked at being a reliever. He became a starter — after taking a cut in salary — and during spring training was sold to the Angels for $25,000.

The defeat didn't cost the Orioles in the pennant chase as all three leading contenders lost for the second night in a row.

The first-place New York Yankees remained one percentage point in front despite a 10-1 beating by Kansas City and the third-place Chicago White Sox stayed a full game off the pace after a 3-1, 13-inning loss to Detroit.

Elsewhere, Harmon Killebrew hit his 38th homer as Minnesota belted Boston 6-1 and Cleveland walloped Washington 9-0.

Lee allowed only one hit and struck out four over the final three innings after Chance, who got the victory for a 125 record, kept the Orioles scoreless for six innings despite allowing eight hits. The Orioles stranded 10 runners, including two each in the second through sixth innings.

The Angels scored the game's only run in the third on Lennie Green's double and a single by Jim Fregosi, tagging rookie Wally Bunker, 12-3, with his first defeat since mid-June.

The A's got the job done against the Yankees with Nelson Mathews hitting a grand slam homer and Rocky Colavito driving in three runs with a 4-for-4 performance, including his 26th homer. Colavito now is hitting .500 against the Yankees 11 games this season.

Orlando Pena, 9-10, got the victory, allowing the Yankees' lone run on Joe Pepitone's homer in the seventh. Al Downing, 8-4, was the loser.

The Tigers beat the White Sox and Juan Pizarro, 14-6, when Don Wert led off the 13th with a single and Dick McAuliffe followed with his 20th homer. Pizarro, who allowed only seven hits, had previously been touched only for an unearned run.

Tony Oliva and Killebrew hit consecutive homers in the first inning and Bernie Allen connected in the second inning for the Twins and that was more than enough for Camilo Pascual. Pascual, 11-3 with his first victory since July 11, allowed only three hits, one a homer by Carl Yastrzemski.

Chico Salmon and Leon Wagner hit back to back homers in the fourth inning, powering the Indians to their victory over the Senators. Lee Stange and Gary Bell combined for the shutout, allowing seven hits.

Indians Meet Twins Friday

Salmon, Wagner Sock Homers In Tribe Win

CLEVELAND (AP)—The little men had the big laughs for the Cleveland Indians.

When rookie Chico Salmon whacked his first major league homer over the fence Wednesday night, Vic Davalillo dropped to the dugout floor, his hands over his face.

He got up—laughing. Salmon, a 160-pounder, chuckled, too, and said: "If there was no wind that ball go into the lake. If I put all my power behind the bat I can hit the ball into the lake every time."

Salmon's feat moved Leon Wagner, who followed him to the plate, to say, "When I saw the ball go out I said to myself, 'Leon, you can't let that puny little fellow show you up.' So I went up there and hit one, too." Wagner is 6-foot-1 and weighs 192 pounds.

Homers by Salmon and Wagner gave the Indians a 3-0 lead in the fourth inning and the Tribe kept it up, tagging five Washington pitchers for 12 hits and a 9-0 victory.

It was Wagner's 27th homer. He's now one ahead of his 1963 total with the Los Angeles Angels and has more homers than any Cleveland player since Willie Kirkland rapped 26 in 1961.

Wagner collected three RBI, driving in Dick Howser and Salmon with a single in the seventh. Catcher Joe Azcue also drove in two runs with a single. The Indians scored two runs in the sixth on singles by Bob Chance, Davalillo and Azcue and a passed ball.

The Indians are idle tonight and play a two-night double-header against the Minnesota Twins Friday.

By ALAN GILL
The Censor Under the Skin
In a new book about movie and TV censorship, "The Face on the Cutting Room Floor," a calm observer named Murray Schumach inserts the following well-considered paragraph:
"No where in art or show business in the United States has there been anything comparable to the censorship that afflicts television. It has the usual pressure groups ranging through the religions, civic groups, social organizations, professional associations. And then it has much more. It has the censorship of a network and of each station that carries a program. It has the censorship of the sponsor and the advertising agency, unto the fifth cousin. It has the censorship of the government. And finally, it is exposed to the censorship of the viewers, who are simultaneously potential customers and feel justified in writing indignant letters to sponsors as critic-moralists. This attrition of originality by censorship has made television writers the most frustrated hacks since man first learned to chip cuneiform characters into stone."

IN HIS SHORT SECTION ON TV—"short" because the movies are Schumach's real beat and first love—the fellow offers a fascinating catalogue of a television writer's frustrations. Reference to President Lincoln must be dropped from a TV drama sponsored by the Chrysler Corp. (He's the name of a competitor.)

A sponsor of a show planning a dramatization of Hemingway's "My Old Man," which concerns itself with a crooked jockey, wants the jockey made as sternly honest as Charlton Heston and thereby kills the point of the yarn. That master of intrigue, Eric Ambler, swears that out-and-out villains are blackballed from TV: "They must all be maladjusted." Producer Fred Coe says sponsors only "want provocative dramas that don't provoke anybody." And any dialogue or piece of action which seems to run counter to the advertising message of the station break must be ruthlessly excised. That swig of coffee our hero orders down at the Greasy Spoon must be good to the last drop. And the bad guys, if their sponsor happens to be a non-filter cigarette manufacturer, had better be shown smoking filter cigarettes.

SCHUMACH LISTS the Chicago TV cancellation of the scheduled showing of "Martin Luther," the deletion of that sweet old firebrand, Sean O'Casey, from a St. Patrick's Day edition of Ed Sullivan's program, the Italians' objections to "The Untouchables," an insurance company's thumbs-down on Joseph Conrad's "Heart of Darkness" as a TV drama because "evil seemed to be rewarded," the years of TV black-listing as "the story of how a mass medium has degraded its artists to salesmen," etc., etc.

But the real crime of censorship is that it robs us all of something honestly felt and honestly said, and I'm not talking about dirty words. (A good TV playwright, Ernest Kinoy, wrote only a few days ago: "As a writer in the most mass of the media, I have discovered that I do not need four-letter words to tell my story; but when the atmosphere in which I work bars ideas of challenge and controversy, 'I am poor indeed.'") To Kinoy, "the invariable victim of the censor is intelligence in general."

IS THERE A WAY OF putting a fine artist's uncensored words and thoughts on TV without scandalizing the kiddies? Sure, says Schumach, citing the case of the television production of Eugene O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh." Without bowdlerizing, it went on late at night, with the audience forewarned of its contents.

We viewers, all of us censors under the skin, generally are not too easily scandalized by our patriots, who may be unwise at times, or by our churchmen, who may occasionally fall short of their calling. Why must we be so hard on our artists?

Here Is How Usual TV Interview Is Done

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After 10 days spent with people involved in next season's new television programs, a reporter becomes convinced they have all memorized the same basic, all-purpose script for interviews.

Usual procedure is to set up confrontations with the stars-to-be and producers or creators of entertainment programs, with a press agent confidentially passing along his personal opinion that the show will be a smash. Then, no matter who is trotted out, the interview drops into familiar ruts.

It goes about like this: Interviewer is conducted by press agent to studio commissary or nearby restaurant and, after a few minutes, subject arrives for lunch break.

If it is an actor, he wears his make-up, costume and a happy smile. If it is the producer, he wears a sharply pressed sports jacket and slacks, and is always pressed for time. "Creators," who are usually writers by trade, look as if they had just stepped off a sailboat, and act worried. But the words are the same.

Interviewer: "So how are series.

things going?" Interviewee: "Just marvelously! I must say that I've never been a part of such a talented team. The scripts are just great, every one funny, unusual and full of real entertainment values."

Interviewer: "There were reports in the trade papers that you were having script trouble and the sponsor was unhappy."

Interviewee: "Scripts — You'll die laughing at some, like the one where I want to play golf on Saturday but my wife wants me to clean the cellar."

Interviewer: "Yes, yes, but—" Interviewee: "Wow, time's up. I've got to get back to the set. They are very strict about being on time, you know. Anyway, you can see how well it's going, and I think that with some help and backing from people like you, we'll be in great shape. Gosh, it's been a pleasure talking with you."

Current scuttlebutt — or maybe just adroit press agency — has NBC's "Rogues" looming as a hit; ABC's "Bing Crosby Show" turning up good comedy scripts; and CBS' "Living Doll" emerging as a bright, off-beat series.

Health Questions And Answers

Dr. Brandstadt

Q—After reading your column on sodium fluoride I rushed out to get some for my children's fast decaying teeth. The druggist told me fluoride is rat poison and he had no tablets. What do I do now?
A—Yes, sodium fluoride is rat poison but so is d-c u m a r o l which is widely used by doctors as an anticoagulant. I assume you told your druggist that you didn't want a pound of the stuff.

It is marketed by the Fluoritab Corporation (Flint, Mich.) in both liquid and tablet form. Each package contains complete instructions for its use and appropriate warnings.

Q—My mother 65, has nephritis. Can this be controlled by diet? If so, what foods should be eaten and which ones avoided?

A—After the acute stage of nephritis, during which all proteins should be strictly eliminated from the diet, a protein deficiency often develops. If there is free passage of urine and a fairly good appetite in a person with chronic nephritis, protein must be given in the form of meat, fish, fowl, cheese and eggs without fear.

In other words, a normal balanced diet should be taken. Some doctors advocate cutting down on the salt intake and this is probably helpful, but a rigid low sodium diet is neither necessary nor desirable.

The best plan in this respect is to allow your mother to eat foods that contain salt but avoid such items as pretzels, salted crackers and salted nuts. She should add no salt at the table.

Q—What are the symptoms of chronic Bright's disease? How is it detected and what is the treatment?

A—The symptoms of chronic nephritis vary with the underlying cause and with the individual victim. This disease affects persons of all ages and is usually the result of a kidney infection. Common symptoms are easy fatigability, shortness of breath, swelling of the ankles and puffiness of the eyelids, especially early in the morning. Some victims have a complete absence of symptoms except for albumin in the urine. This is the finding on which your doctor bases his diagnosis. The treatment depends on

Viet Crisis Lacks Explosive Potential of Cuba Encounter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's Cuban missile showdown, but South-east Asia could still cause big trouble in the long run.

This is the opinion of administration insiders who worked both with the late president during the 1962 missile confrontation and with Johnson in the decision to strike back at North Viet Nam's navy.

As Secretary of State Dean Rusk figures it, the Cuba affair saw the world's two great nuclear powers — the United States and the Soviet Union — on collision course. A push of the button then could have plunged the northern hemisphere into a nuclear holocaust.

In Viet Nam shots have been fired, but not atomic ones. Hanoi and Peking don't hold a nuclear trigger. And that, says Rusk, makes today's difficulty less of an immediate danger and incomparable "in any significant way to the Cuban missile crisis."

So far, so good. But what will happen later is loaded with uncertainty.

The U.S. counterattack was avowedly geared to keeping the fighting limited. Whether it spreads into a bigger war, say U.S. strategists, is up to the Reds — and they admittedly don't know just what the Communists will decide to do beyond firing a propaganda barrage and making threats.

Will Red China march into Southeast Asia in a massive way? Will the Soviets patch up their split with Peking enough to form a tough united front?

The prevailing theory here has been that the Soviet Union will not rush support to the distant Southeast Asian land where its influence has been losing out to Peking.

Red China has been the more militant backer of North Viet Nam's aggressions. However, China appears not to have effective military means of replying to the U.S. counterthrust short of a large scale land invasion to the South. That would mean a big war at a tremendous price to her.

Washington hopes the Communist response will be to move more cautiously on the military front. Even with that the South Viet Nam campaign still looms long and costly.

The most dangerous span of the Cuban missile crisis lasted about two weeks. The Southeast Asia danger has lurked for years and even the optimists predict it will be many months before it is licked.

Rhythmic Revolution Has Started In Sierra Leone

Bo, Sierra Leone (AP) — A modern day music man brought here by the Peace Corps is causing a rhythmic revolution in this West African land.

There was plenty of primitive tribal rhythm but only two organized bands—the army and the police—when James C. Polite arrived less than a year ago. He organized a 40-piece school band, is planning a drill team, tutoring other teachers in music, and launching a widespread music curriculum.

The short, plump Negro hustles around this up-country town on a motorbike. At 48 he is older than most Peace Corpsmen.

He has made such an impact that Sierra Leone officials recently asked the Peace Corps for four additional bandmasters "with Jim Polite's qualifications and if possible his ability."

Polite feels the same way about Sierra Leone, a former British colony in Africa. It's about the size of South Carolina. He composed a song "Sir Milton Margai" to honor the late prime minister; and an ode to Catholic Training College which is his headquarters here. He writes some tunes in a type of pidgin English called Krio and plans a more elaborate piece of music based on local rhythms and titled "African Boogie."

He says: "It's O.K. to bring U.S. musicians like Louis Armstrong or Cozy Cole over here to entertain but what do these people have left after the visitors have gone? I think it's better in the long run if Sierra Leoneans can entertain themselves with music."

He came here with a varied background as a music teacher starting when he gave informal lessons to friends in Civilian Conservation Corps camps in the 1930s. He studied music at Dillard University in New Orleans and at Chicago Vandercook College and at Roosevelt University. Polite organized 15 elementary and high school bands and spent three years in U.S. Army musical groups.

"They told me when I came here that these people didn't want music — that they were just hungry for basic schooling and not songs," said Polite. "But I was quickly convinced a music program would work and that there was a real need for it."

BOARD MEETING DELAYED

Clerk Rhea Emmons of the West Branch District Board of Education said today the monthly meeting of the board, scheduled for next Tuesday, has been postponed until Aug. 18 after Executive Head Clinton Heacock has returned from vacation.

Board Gets Ballot Proof In Hurry

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the county election board, said today the Keystone Printing Co., set a new record Wednesday for the time required to produce a ballot proof after obtaining type-written copy from the board.

The St. Clair Ave. job printing concern picked up the copy yesterday morning, set the type and delivered the proofs to the election board about 3 p.m., O'Hanlon said. The contract covers preparation of ballots for the school building bond issue on which the East Liverpool school district will vote at a special election Sept. 15.

"It was the quickest elapsed time on record from ballot copy to proof — and that includes primary, general and special elections," O'Hanlon commented.

Meanwhile, the Southern Local School District filed a resolution asking a vote at the general election Nov. 3 on renewal of a 4.4-mill levy and an increase of 4.4 mills to provide additional funds for current expenses. It would be in effect five years.

Miss Ila Jeanne Davis and Neil Paxson will be married at an open church wedding Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church. An open reception in the church parlor will follow the ceremony.

REV. F. W. HEINS DIES

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The Rev. Fred W. Heins, a Lutheran minister prominent here and in northeastern Ohio, is dead at 67. He died Tuesday in Honolulu, where he had been filling in for a vacationing pastor, after suffering four attacks last Friday.

The Rev. Mr. Heins was superintendent of the Lutheran Inner Mission here from 1944 to 1953 and was director of the Lutheran Service Society of Northeast Ohio, covering Akron, Canton and Youngstown, from 1953 until his retirement in 1962.
